Agenda

- Look at GitHub Issues
- Look at branching
    - The way it works:
    - 1. Assign yourself to the issue you want to work on
    - 2. Create a branch
    - 3. Everyone working on that issues pushes to that branch
    - 4. Once all is well, make pull request (request to merge this branch with main)
- Assign each issue
- Have a separate meeting (frontend and backend) and each group will discuss how they will organize their tasks for the 1st Sprint
    - For frontend home page, to simplify future sprints, need a template box to display a group which shows
        - Group name
        - Whether group closed or button
        - a button to rate students in group
        - a button to see results
